Projects

Vintage Hunters live site | github

HTML5, CSS, JavaScript, Express, Sequelize, SQLite3, PostgreSQL, React/Redux, Render

An E-Commerce (clone of Reverb.com) web application that serves as a marketplace where users can buy or sell vintage music gears

- Implemented React Router's nested routing advantages to aid buyers in browsing what they are looking for by categories smoothly without re-rendering the whole page
- Implemented AWS3 for image uploads to reduce server load and allow scalability as more users start selling on the site and adding more images of their product
- Utilized Redux architecture's unidirectional data flow with React for a predictable state and reliable DOM rendering

MidCupid live site | github

HTML5, CSS, JavaScript, React/Redux, Python, Flask, SQLAlchemy, SQLite3, PostgreSQL, Render

MidCupid is a web application that clones the existing dating website app OKCupid.

- Curated database schema carefully, especially many join tables, to make use of convenient join query methods in the flask to send associated data to frontend
- Adhered to React and ES6 best practices to generate a true single-page reactive web app experience
- Worked with 3 other colleagues from the design phase to the deploy phase for a week and paired programming with agile workflow

Let's Meet live site | github

Let's Meet is a web application that clones the existing social website called MeetUp, where users can find people with similar interests

- Constructed a Node server with RESTful endpoints with express to allow easy usage for frontend async requests
- Implemented local strategy for user authentication with Passport.js using BCrypt for password hashing
